Disclosure Notice:

Please note that failure to disclose all material facts could invalidate your policy in the event of a claim. Material facts are those facts which are likely to affect whether insurers agree to provide cover, or how insurers assess the risks proposed for insurance, including but not limited to:

- a) Previous insurance claims
- b) Any convictions, offences or prosecutions pending of any nature (for example, but not limited to, fraud, theft or the handling of stolen goods)

If you are in any doubt as to whether a fact is material or not you should disclose it. This is for your own protection because, if you do not disclose all the information, your policy may not provide you with the cover you need, a claim may not be paid, the policy may be declared invalid and void or may be cancelled, and you may encounter difficulty trying to purchase insurance elsewhere. You should also be aware that failure to have property insurance in place could lead to a breach of the terms and conditions attaching to any loan secured on that property.
